

2021-2024

National Executive Committee Progress Report

Foreword.

It has been a great honour to serve as NASWU president for the last six years and to make a contribution to a positive transformational change in our country Uganda. I am grateful to have been trusted together with my executive team the responsibility which was a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Despite challenges like Covid-19 pandemic that affected many social workers and communities we serve, during our term of office, NASWU has continued to stand tall in promoting the Global Social Work Agenda; promoting system strengthening like setting standards for social work education; supporting social policies, frameworks and guidelines to standardise social work; promoting the Ethical Code of conduct, supported social workers to update knowledge and skills through continuous professional development; creating linkages and enabling cross-learning between Ugandan social workers and the global social work community. NASWU also led advocacy campaigns aimed at ending violence against children and promoting mental health amid increased mental health needs plus responding to negative publication by some politicians through an open letter to the president of Uganda; increased NASWU membership from less than 300 registered members in 2019 to 3700 current members including 30 social work teaching institutions and agencies; prioritised knowledge generation and dissemination and supporting early career professionals through mentorship programs and fieldwork placements for a well-planned, motivated and supported social workforce in Uganda.

Moving ahead, we must build on the strength of her members, social work teaching institutions, agencies and international partners and networks to further strengthen social work education and practice in Uganda. The association also needs to focus on attaining the social work council through an Act of parliament to effectively regulate social work practice and enforce the Ethical code of conduct.

As I pass the mantle to a new leader and executive of our great profession, I pledge to continue supporting the new team and promoting the goals and objectives of our great profession as we empower individuals and transform communities.

I will leave you with this.

Journey to Social Work Council.

NASWU together with the Israeli Union of Social workers engage the Speaker of Parliament on the urgent need for the social Work Council

The National Child Policy (2020) lists the accreditation and licensing of Social work professionals through the National Association of Social Workers (NASWU) as part of SSW strengthening strategies. Since 2010, several efforts have been made towards providing a regulatory framework for the SSW, including development of an issues paper by NASWU in 2015, and several discussions between NASWU and the MGLSD on the way forward. The 2018 National Symposium on Social Work hosted by the MGLSD in partnership with the Global Social Service Workforce Alliance and NASWU, as well as the International Federation of Social Workers Africa Region Conference (2019).

Our term of office (2021-2024) has facilitated more engagement with MGLSD including agreeing on the strategy where MGLSD will take a leadership role in the presenting the bill while NASWU will provide a technical role of drafting the bill, plus coming up with an MoU with MGLSD that is at its final stage of submission.

NASWU has also had engagement with the office of the Speaker of Parliament, supported the review of the National Framework for Strengthening Social Workforce in Uganda supported by UNICEF together with Global Social Workforce Alliance which further highlights the strategy and emphasises the need to fast track the establishment of a council to regulate the social workers in the country and enforce the professional code of conduct.

System Strengthening

NASWU has made significant contributions in regard to system strengthening of the social workers and social service workforce in Uganda. NASWU is part of the technical working group, supporting the process of rolling out of the Ministry of Gender Labour and Social Development new National strategy for strengthening the social service workforce in Uganda; and operational framework for social care and support system in Uganda 2023/2024 –2028/29, supported the technical review process of the National Framework for strengthening the social service Workforce in Uganda where the cardinal role of NASWU is well highlighted in the three strategies of Planning, Developing and supervising the Social Service Workforce.

NASWU is part of the Inter-University Council for East Africa select technical committee from seven member states including Burundi, Kenya, Rwanda, South Sudan, Tanzania and Uganda working on benchmarks to standardize the bachelor of social work education in

East

Africa

NASWU, REPSSI and mental health stakeholders after the 6th REPSSI Forum –Oct. 2021.

NASWU has collaborated with a number of social work agencies and universities to train their frontline social workers to update their knowledge and skills along different practice domains, <https://naswu.org.ug/wp-content/uploads/2024/07/NASWU-International-Social-work-day-report-2023-final-002-1.pdf> supported 10 universities to review their Social Work curriculum in line with Minimum Standards for Social Work Education in Uganda, disseminated up to 1000 copies of the National Child Protection Policy 2020, shared 2000 copies of the Minimum Standards and Competency Framework for Social Work Education 2019, and supported regional upcoming social work associations in South Sudan, Somaliland, Somalia, and Madagascar to start and strengthen their social work associations.

In addition, NASWU is part of the East and Southern Africa community of practice technical team involving government and professional associations, including social welfare, finance and planning ministries, on workforce ratios and costing coordinated by UNICEF regional office (ESARO). The purpose of this platform is to exchange experience and insights on the use of ratios and costing in workforce planning and budgeting, and in turn to strengthen the global guidance with more specific advice, examples and country case studies.

Mentorship of social work students and creating linkages for fieldwork placements and job opportunities

NASWU early career professionals after a mentorship session at NASWU Secretariat.

The three years (2021-2024) has had an intentional focus on supporting early career professionals on life skills, starting community change projects, field work, connecting social work students to NASWU member social work organisations in line with NASWU strategic objective number three of promoting social work education. A total of 270 students from 8 social work teaching universities have been supported with placements and support supervision. NASWU has also supported and continue to receive international students and newly qualified social workers for field Work placement in Uganda from Keele University-United Kingdom, The Han University-Netherlands, and University of Calgary Canada. This has promoted learning best practices and strengthened, networking, practical skills, networking and learning best practices for better social work education outcomes in Uganda.

Coordination and Advocacy

NASWU has been actively involved in key national coordination platforms aimed at promoting mental health and wellness, child protection and safeguarding, holistic education quality, quality community engagement and collaboration. NASWU is a member of the National Child protection Working Group under the Ministry of Gender, Labour and Social Development, member of the Uganda National Mental Health and Psychosocial Support Working Group (NMHPSS-WG) and worked closely with Ministry of Education and Sports to review the Education White paper.

NASWU was a co-convener of National Learning events including the 1st, 2nd and 3rd National mental Health Conference 2022, 2023, and 2024 respectively in collaboration with the Ministry of Health-Division of Mental Health and Control of Substance Abuse and Professional Associations like the Uganda Psychiatric Association (UPA), Uganda Clinical Psychology Association (UCPA) Uganda Counselling Association (UCA) to raise awareness about mental health and highlight the need to prioritize mental health for all in Uganda. NASWU Co-hosted the 6th REPSSI Satellite Forum for children and youth and the Main Forum from 12-14 October 2021 under the theme, "Innovate, Integrate and thrive"

NASWU has led four (4) online national leaning webinar series on child protection and mental health aimed at ending violence against children and promoting resilience of individuals, families and communities amid increased mental health needs exacerbated by COVID-19 and economic challenges today.

National and international Stakeholders shared experience during the National mental health learning Webinar-Series –July 2022.

Maintaining a functional Secretariat and NASWU Regional Coordination teams/Chapters

NASWU has maintained a functional secretariat on the address - plot 3182-Block 273, Buziga Katuuso, P.O Box 5070-Kampala Uganda. The secretariat is headed by a National Coordinator working with six secretariat staff working largely on voluntary basis. The secretariat coordinates the day-to-day running of association in line with NASWU strategic plan and reports to the National executive Committee. NASWU has also established Regional coordination teams/ Chapters to strengthen coordination, partnership and membership, mobilisation, advocacy, and system strengthening of our professional body.

NASWU through her secretariat has continuously supported social workers through issuing membership cards, writing recommendations and support letters to Ugandan social workers seeking opportunities within and outside the country, responded to member concerns and recommendations to ensure client-centered services to our members across the country.

Challenges

- Disruptions by Covid-19 pandemic affected implementation of activities for two years of closure.
- Inconsistence of members in renewing their membership fees.
- Emerging global challenges execrated by climate change which has implications on social life and communities.
- Much time taken on cleaning and updating NASWU in regard to government requirements.
- Poor attitude of some members “how can I benefit” instead of “how can we work together for the betterment of our association.”

Looking ahead

NASWU has noted with concern the emerging and escalating social challenges such as the increased intensity and impact of climate change on vulnerable populations, escalation of HIV/AIDS with disproportionate effect on women, children and youth, continued violence against children, burden of mental illness in our communities, poverty and inequality, reports of corruption and human rights abuse, gender-based violence, increased numbers of refugees and forced displacement among other which demand our attention moving forward.

Looking ahead, we must continue to leverage our collective expertise to confront these obstacles and social challenges of our time and ensure a stronger, more resilient and empowered social work profession in Uganda that is able to tackle the most pressing issues facing our communities. We look forward to double our effort and strengthen our partnerships for a stronger social work profession in Uganda.

In the next five years, NASWU will focus on the following

- System strengthening efforts including
- Setting standards for social work practice
- Promote social work education and training
- Professional supervision for those in practice and pre-service
- Promote partnership, collaboration and networking within and outside Uganda
- Strengthen NASWU institutional development
- Advocacy for social work professional and services in Uganda
- Ending violence against children
- Promoting mental health and psychosocial support
- Strengthen NASWU governance and Regional chapters
- Research, Knowledge generation and dissemination
- Deliver a social work council through the Act of Parliament.
